Kit incorporates loads of friendly features

GEMMA NISBET

This transportable home in the Mid West town of Mingenew shows what can be achieved through clever design and thoughtful block placement, according to the judges.

Awarding it the prize for the best transportable or kit home, the judge were impressed by the home's numerous environmentally friendly features, including the use of passive-solar principles, water tanks, photovoltaic cells and native landscaping.

“With energy efficiency and water conservation in mind, this home presents a clear view into the future,” they commented.

Based on Pinnacle display by Aussie Modular Solutions, the home was built in Perth before being assembled on site.
